Class Poem

We cannot stay, nor would we; still
We like to pause where grew
Our brightest dreams, our visions fair—
These halls of White and Blue!

And shall we pass, nor come again?
But think: our task is more.
The day is here; a final hail,
And school's behind;—our lives before!

We have a pride we cannot speak,
A feeling none can tell;
Our hearts are high, our hopes ahead;
We sing, though say—farewell!

NOTES

To Our Dean

Through four years of life you've led us,
Spurred us onward to our goal;
Cheered us when we were discouraged—
Helped us e'er to play our role.

For those years of helpful guidance,
For those years of friendship true,
Here we offer our best wishes
And lasting gratitude to you.

May Jamieson.

Chaucer Re-inspired

(The shade of Chaucer approached and began to speak. Although it was impossible to understand his words, his pantomime informed me that he wished to contribute a few lines to the Shucis. Assuring him, as best I could, that we were highly honored, I received the following verses with the greatest glee.—The Writer).

Ther wer the Howland twinnes
Ther-with this song beginnes;—
    Well-might it ende,—
    For truth forfende
That aught surpass hir grinnes!

Came with hem Frances Davis,
And smyling glance gave us.
    If she should kepe
    Hir blue eyen depe
Hid, she houres eek would save us!

Ther was that Wilhelmina—
No soter ever sene,
    Who hadde way
    To mak you pay,
Although your purs wer lene!

Ther cometh that Ruth Edmonds
And bideth for the nones:
    Hir name grette
    In good debate,
For better speech, ther noon is.

And with hem cometh Dorothy Lally
Well-knowe for hir shrewde sallye,
    Or answer kene.
    Hir joy is seene:
She lovs to wait and dallye.

And also Ida Belle
Who doth hir dutye well,
    Who can recite
    And do it righte
The many answers telle.

That Ritchie was a stout carl, out of doute,
Who coude run a race about
    - Twice as faste
    As the laste
Man that tried the course oute.

The Shucis

A pair of men ther was who coude acte,
Between the which to judge—it taketh tacte;—
And so to alle
Ere curtain falle
Ther genius was a knowe facte.

A youth they hadde with them—Warren Rain-e
Who telled he coude drive an aeroplane;
And should he showe
Us how it goe,
We coude but to ride with hem againe.

Recipe for a Senior

Take one pound of bluff, four ounces of resolution, twelve ounces of laziness, one large sprig of tyme; place on the hot fire home work, but do not allow the mixture to bubble or it will become full of hot air. Add a few pinches of study, taking care not to put in too much as this ingredient is very expensive and hard to obtain. Gradually stir in one-half pound dignity. When the mixture begins to swell, remove from the fire and whip, flavoring with "banana oil" to suit the individual taste. Sweeten with the sugar of self-assurance, and, when cool, can and seal it. Put it away for four years (or longer as may be required) in a cool place to keep it from spoiling. When ready, serve it with excuses.

The ingredients are to be bought at the apothecary's at the house of knowledge on the road to graduation.

(Note: All measurements are level. One gram of study is equal to two pounds of resolution.)

A. Fuerst.

A Memorial

When it's all o'er,
And the battle's won,
And our thoughts wander back
O'er these years of fun,
Will our memories these saying lack,
Or those heart-felt trial of yore?
"Take the next 40 lines for tomorrow."
"Don't loiter in the hall."
"Report at 8 a. m. tomorrow."
"Let's take your home work, will ya?"
"I can't say it, but I can write it."
"The bell has rung, class."
"West Point breathing,—inhale!"
"Come on now, watch the stick and sing."

Grace E. Barber.

Our Fall of 1900

Inscriptions

1. Kathleen Norris:—A gentle old spinster who had several chances to enter the blissful state of matrimony, but her ideal never showed up. Let this be a warning to over particular young girls.

2. Harold Fogg:—Professor at Mahawk University. His statement, "The aggressiveness transcends combativeness interlocked with incomprehensibility," has created a stir in intellectual circles.

3. Agnes Buchanan:—Do not be deceived. This isn't one of the exercises she does to keep in trim for her job in the Follies. The artist didn't give her enough space to stand up in.

4. Clifford Coward:—Juggler who won fame through his ability to juggle eggs without breaking them. He was finally exposed when the eggs were found to be petrified.

5. Wilhelmina Schneider:—Graduate of the Sweet School of Music. Her debut in the Centre Street Opera House was a "howling" success.

6. Craig Frost:—Traffic cop in a baby parade bawling out a baby for making faces at him and trying hard to reciprocate.

7. Ruth Edmonds:—President of a girls' finishing and polishing school.

8. William Shopmyer:—Young college graduate taking a trip to New York to accept a position as door opener at the Waldorf-Astoria, unaware of the dangers that beset little boys who go alone to big cities.

9. Howard Richardson:—Famous actor who has appeared in several Shakespearean revivals in such roles as: enter a citizen, the bell rings within, shouts without.

10. Frank Gianelli:—Member of the Metropolitan Opera Company holding his audience spellbound while he sings the "Farmer in the Dell."

11. Roland Ritchie:—Still an executive as shown by his ability to lead the shovel. His determination to do his work well will undoubtedly lead to advancement in his chosen profession. You can't keep a good man down.

12. Pauline Feinstein:—Renowned actress, who won fame in the play, "The Herpicide Hound of Bald Dome Mountain," airing her imported ocompmagrosaurus mongrel.

13. Elizabeth Cohn:—School teacher modestly posing while the artist draws her portrait. Please note the self-composure and intelligent expression.

14. Robert Dunlop:—Lecturer whose sweeping statement, "Apple-sauce should be made from pears," has stirred the whole country and in some districts has created riots.

15. Frances Davis:—Danseuse who is reviving the old-fashioned dances.

The Shucis

16. Alice Porter:—Student at the Hoopo College is making startling advances in mathematics. She is now studying different "angles".

17. Katherine Flickinger:—Society lady and author of etiquette book, "The Wrong Thing at the Right Time."

18. Walter Beers:—Professor of clamology at Eggnoodle University testing the intelligence of a soft-shelled clam.

19. Philip Parillo:—Human skeleton. Read a newspaper through him. He conducts classes on "How to Grow Thin". All ladies invited.

20. Helen Efner:—Proprietor of the Bachelor Girls' Tea Room whose business has proved to be a booming success.

21. Arnold English:—Fashion plate who recently signed a contract with the Narrow Collar Company to pose for advertisements. Girls!!! Watch for him in the magazines.

22. Sherwood Alexander:—Baseball player who has been named for the All-American Team. He stands a good chance of making it as his batting average is .0001267.

23. Cynthia Andrews:—Member of the U. S. senate, pictured delivering a speech before that body.

24. Warren Rain:—President of the Bigger and Better Goatee Society to abolish neckties and shirt fronts.

25. The end of our little tale.

May Jamieson:—A poetess whose nursery jingles have taken the place of the much-overworked Mother Goose Rhymes.

Mary Murray:—Educational reformer whose astonishing statement, "The study of Virgil is a violation of the Constitution, which prohibits the infliction of cruel or unusual punishment" has flooded the courts with lawsuits of former students against their teachers.

Gladys Wise:—Author of the year's best seller, "Why the Fig Didn't Keep His Date". No one should pass up this great work; it is especially good for children.

Ralph Gutchell:—Holder of a new record in swimming from Tutootue Pt. to Woolumooloo Landing against the current in the amazing time of eight hours. No one has ever even approached this record; there has always been a boat handy.

Carl Nigriny:—Schenectady's only hope. Boost your city's home products by supporting him in the Apollo Contest to choose Valentino's successor. On to Atlantic City!

Stephen Dales:—Ring Lardner's only rival! Do you know the meaning of the terms, "indoor sports," "oil can," and dead hopper?" Consult Dales' Reliable Dictionary. Every family should own one.

Edward Kelly:—Spendthrift. He writes his correspondence in shorthand to save ink.

The Shuris

Julia Cohn:—Mannequin who is displaying Red Riding Hood suits at the Myers Company.

Doris Schauffelberger:—Artist whose latest masterpiece, "The Vamping Vine," has been acclaimed by art critics all over the country. The vine is so well concealed that a prize is offered to the one who finds it.

Evelyn Van Vranken:—Original inspiration of the song-writer who wrote, "So He Sold His Talking Machine and Got Married."

Jenkins Barlett:—Star salesman for "What Not and Try to Get 'Em Airplane Company." Buy your stock now: it's going up fast.

Jonas Fleminberg:—Originator of a new course of dancing. His slogan is, "You never need to step on her feet; let her alight on both of yours and glide along."

Joseph Czyzewski:—Butler to His Royal Highness, King of Timbuctoo.

Ida Belle Coplon,
Anna Fuerst,
Joseph Slovak,
Mysterious member X,
(blame everything on him.)

Taps

Because of the bravery shown by the January Seniors in the battles of "Exams," the enemy, the Faculty, has declared a short truce (Miss Hoskins waved a tardy slip) in order to let the battered January Seniors retreat and the June Senior recruits go over the top. The retreat of the January Seniors on crutches and stretchers out of the North door, led by General Roland Ritchie, was a pitiful sight. To the remaining army they leave the following:—

Maps of No-Man's Land (S. H. S.) for the freshmen.
Camouflage—Rouge, powder and Stacomb.
Hand Grenades—Smart (?) answers in class.
Hardtack and water—the Cafeteria.
Gas Masks—for Chemistry Lab.
Pass-Ports—to get by the door monitors.
Supply room—The library (Try and get a supply of Boas & Hahn).
Court-Martial—For talking in the library.
Solitary confinement—Study Hall.
Reveille—The 8:15 bell (any bell).

The World Before Us

Haughty Seniors, self-important Seniors, sophisticated Seniors,—these are some of the less complimentary appellations by which we who are about to leave our school are set apart from those who have yet some happy days to spend here. Already we begin to envy them those days. We feel that we have completed a great step in our lives, and most of us are guilty of at least a slight feeling of haughtiness and self-importance. The reason for this is probably that we have the mistaken impression that we are grown up, when really we are just beginning life. It is all before us,—vague, challenging, and full of wonder! Think of it! To be told by a genie with a magic lamp, "You have years of life ahead of you; the world is at your disposal; and yours the decision to make: 'What shall I do with this gift?'" Yet, that is practically the true outlook for Youth, Youth that has character and training. We are deeply grateful for the opportunities S. H. S. has given us to build character, and for the training and splendid preparation we have received here. The time is near when we shall have occasion to prove that we have benefited greatly by these advantages. It will be our duty to uphold the ideals for which our Alma Mater stands.

The Shucis

The world is before us! What shall we do with it?

Exchanges

It is now about the time that the editor-in-chief sadly wipes a reminiscent tear from her cheek and bids farewell to her Alma Mater in stirring editorials. It is at this time that our assistant editor fills the air with complaints, bemoaning the departure of the dignified seniors from these hallowed halls of learning. From this we gather that all noteworthy personages are engaged in the noble pursuit of writing that form of discourse usually known as editorials; therefore, why should not we?

Upon investigation, we find that it is always advisable, in writing an editorial, to have a subject. We could write about the joys of being an exchange editor, only we don't intend to. Any attempt of that sort would seem so futile. Inasmuch as exchanges go on and on indefinitely, it is the aim of the exchange editor to do something far-reaching—something that will insure a place for us in the annals of history.

Unknown to the outside world, there has been a grave injustice done the exchange editors all these years. It may be cruel to "lick" a horse, but it is positive homicide to force a poor exchange editor to lick one hundred seventy-five postage stamps and seventy-five envelope flaps every term. It is our intention to take definite steps toward having the post office change the flavor of the mucilage on backs of envelope flaps and stamps—peppermint, wintergreen, or even chocolate, according to taste. If we accomplish this, we shall feel that our humble lives have not been spent in vain, and that we have done our own share toward easing the paths of future exchange editors.

Why is Time?

We suppose there is no immediate possibility of reversing the calendar, but such an event would afford us untold pleasure. Our recent existence has slipped along far too swiftly. Did we once escape that glorious pastime—the Shucis drive, the joys of proof-reading were upon us. After a rather hectic initiation, we flattered ourselves we were well-versed in those rites, and settled comfortably into routine, only to be aroused and informed that a farewell to the class of Januaray 1927 was expected of us. Were we dreaming, or is Time really the speedster we believe him? And why is that class so eager to graduate? We were just becoming well-acquainted! Their energetic record as a class appalls us as we consider the challenge they leave. Go they will, we sigh; but add, may they have the best of luck, and may they not forget our S. H. S.!

Cross Country

Sam Grodman—Captain 1926. Member of State Championship Teams in 1925-26. During the 1926 season he finished in a tie for first place in five out of six meets and placed second in the State Championship meet.

Roland Ritchie—ex-captain 1925. Member of State Championship Teams in 1924-25-26. During the 1926 season, he finished in a tie for first place in every meet entered, with the exception of the State Championship Run, which he won individually. He was also State Champion in 1925 and finished second in the State Championships in 1924. He has the distinction of being the only runner ever to win the State Championships two years in succession. As a result of his graduation, Schenectady High is losing the greatest distance runner the school has ever known.

Lawrence Belanger—Captain-elect 1927. Member of State Championship Teams in 1925-26. He has been a consistent runner for two years, finishing in a tie for first place in four out of six starts during the 1926 season, and finishing well up toward the front in the other two meets.

Edward Kimmerle—Member of the State Championship Team 1926. He has been a consistent runner for two years, finishing in fourteenth place in the State Championships this year.

James Haggerty—Member of the State Championship Team 1926. Although one of the smallest boys in school, he has had an exceptional year for a new runner, finishing the season by placing twentieth in the State Championships. Much is expected of him in the future.

The Shurcis

Reuben Harrison—He has been a consistent runner for two years, showing up well in all of the meets he entered. Although suffering from blood infection, he has helped materially in establishing this year's team record.

Thomas Tillema—Although not as yet a brilliant runner, Tillema has been a consistent finisher on the S. H. S. team. He is another good runner who will be lost through graduation this year.

Carl Gottlieb—Carl is a new member of the team. Running under S. H. S. colors for the first time this year, he won his letter in the Manhattan Interscholastics. He is expected to come through in fine style next year.

Fayette Van Zile—Although not starring in any meet, Van Zile has shown up well all season, winning his letter in the Williams Frosh Meet. He is expected to come through next year.

Archangelo Loquidice—He is a new member of the team, running this year for the first time. Although he did not win his letter this year, much is expected from him next year.

Reginald Lesnieski—Manager 1926. He has efficiently managed the team through the most successful season cross-country has ever had in Schenectady High School.

Coach William F. Eddy—Coach Eddy has annually turned out the greatest scholastic cross-country teams in America. This year's team has been by far the greatest. Much credit is due him for building such a team out of the few veterans left from last year's squad.

Choose a Profession Early in Life

The High School boy or girl who gives a little serious thought toward a future business career DURING his or her school days gets a running start ahead of other schoolmates.

The Gas and Electric Industries offer unusual advantages for young men—and women too! Gas and Electricity are two of the greatest helps in the world in the promotion of comfort, convenience and happiness.

Look about you—see and think about the wonderful things that Electricity and Gas do for us in our daily living. Plan to become part of the great industries whose operations are so interesting and worthwhile.

Good Printing-- How it Helps

OUR printing should reflect the very spirit of your business, the character of your merchandise or service. Its production is creative, not merely mechanical. In your printed messages—circulars, folders, broadsides, letterheads, etc.,—their appearance makes the first visible impression, which, when gained, quickens the reading of the messages. Printing of quality helps.

Appropriate selection of types and employing them with proper artistic balance through grouping and judicious use of space; the choice of appropriate stock, the colors of ink, thorough “make-ready” for a perfect impression—all these are essential elements in GOOD printing.

Tim—"How are you getting along at home while your wife's away?"

Jime—"Fine. I've reached the height of efficiency. I can put my socks on now from either end."

A woman, evidently very hurried and flurried, got into an omnibus the other day, and she was hailed by a friend.

"Sit down," said the friend, moving up a place.

"Oh, really, dear, I can't " said the flurried woman, "I haven't time. I am going to the station and I've only just time to catch the train."
